Ralph Breaks the Internet: A Review

by 6A Yau Kai Kit, Tayo

Ralph Breaks the Internet is a delightful, animated film that takes viewers on an exciting and amusing adventure through the vast world of the Internet. As a P6 student, I thoroughly enjoyed this movie and found it entertaining, funny, and visually stunning.

The story follows Ralph and his best friend Vanellope as they journey into the Internet in search of a replacement part for Vanellope's video game. The film cleverly explores various aspects of internet culture, including social media, online gaming and viral videos. It provides a funny and relatable commentary on the internet's influence on our lives.

The animation in Ralph Breaks the Internet is fantastic, with vibrant colours and detailed visuals that bring the Internet world to life. The depiction of popular websites and internet icons is cleverly done. And there are plenty of Easter eggs and references for tech-savvy viewers to enjoy.

The characters in the movie are well-developed and the voice acting is superb. Ralph and Vanellope's friendship is at the heart of the film. Their bond is both heartwarming and relatable. The movie also introduces new characters that add depth and comedic elements to the story.

One of the film's strengths is its ability to tackle important themes such as friendship, self-acceptance and the consequences of our actions in an accessible and entertaining way. It teaches us valuable lessons about the importance of being honest to oneself and the power of forgiveness.

Overall, Ralph Breaks the Internet is an excellent movie that appeals to both kids and adults. It combines humour, adventure, and heartfelt moments to create an enjoyable and meaningful viewing experience. I would highly recommend it to anyone looking for a fun and thought-provoking animated film.

An Unforgettable Trip to Disneyland

by 6A Wu Cheuk Man, Jasmine

'This was the most unforgettable trip I've ever had in Disneyland!' I exclaimed to Amelia, as the magnificent fireworks exploded in the air.

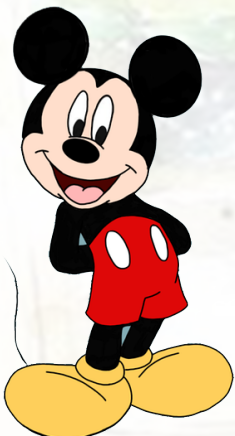

The time turned to a moment, back to that day morning. I dressed up as a green avocado because I love green and Gelatoni, who is a tuxedo cat. Amelia wore ripped jeans and a Linabell headband. We both arrived at the entrance and stared at each other in excitement.

Soon afterwards, we were enthusiastically digging in the Duffy and Friends merchandise store. We kept shopping and buying items of Gelatoni and Linabell. Then it was time to start cruising. We took a lot of pictures and 'selfies'. The characters were so amiable and fun that we almost had a heart attack!

Also, we got on the Grizzly Gulch which is an exciting and thrilling ride. There's also a famous ride called Space Mountain, but I was afraid of it, so we went to another amusement ride: Iron Man Experience. The 3D scenes were very realistic and immersive, and we thoroughly enjoyed it.

We played happily until the evening. At eight o'clock, the fireworks show started. The music started to play and the fireworks display was just dazzling. I felt as if they were recording all the memories of me and Amelia. Those magnificent fireworks will never fade, as neither will my friendship with her. This will be engraved in our hearts forever.

An Interview with Mr. Vernon

by 5A Chan Kin Pui, Alex and 5B Chen Siquan, Jason

We interviewed Mr. Vernon, one of our beloved English teachers at Bishop Walsh Primary School. This is what he had to say.

Mr. Vernon, when did you come to Bishop Walsh Primary School? How long have you been working here?

V: I started here in 2021, so that makes almost three years here.

What do you think about Bishop Walsh Primary School's students?

V: I think Bishop Walsh primary school is a very good and balanced school and I found the students are very polite and very respectful.

Why did you come to Bishop Walsh Primary School?

V: Actually, I wasn't planning on coming to Bishop Walsh Primary School at first. But after doing some research and pondering my choices, I felt that Bishop Walsh was the best choice because of how good the teachers are.

What is your favourite sport? Any other hobbies?

V: My favorite sport is football. I started playing it when I was five years old and I still play it regularly. As for my other hobbies, I like running and playing rugby.

Which city do you come from?

V: I come from a city called Cape Town which is in South Africa, my primary school and my high school are both in Cape Town. I grew up there.

Why did you come to Hong Kong?

V: I came to Hong Kong because I felt Hong Kong is a very lively, active and cultural city.

Why did you choose to be a teacher?

V: It is because teaching allows you to help students and see them grow as an individual. That is what I love the most about teaching: interacting and engaging with the students.

iPhone 15

by 5A Liu Tsz Sin, Victor

iPhone 15 is the latest product of Apple, Inc. Its basic design is similar to iPhone 14, but it has some variations and small improvements.

The first variation is iPhone 15 changes the charging point to USB Type-C instead of their lightning charging port. The second variation is that all iPhone 15 use frosted glass on their back. The touch is good, and it is not rough. The third variation is in the iPhone 15 Pro Max, which changes the physical mute button into an action button. This is a very big change because Apple, Inc. has used a physical mute button for a long time. However, they changed it into action to be more convenient. The fourth and last variation is that the iPhone 15 Pro series all use a titanium alloy frame. It is lighter and the lens is bigger than iPhone 14.

In a sense, Apple Inc. changed a lot of shortcomings of their product to make the customers satisfied, but the biggest shortcoming is still the battery. It is too easy to lose electricity so I hope Apple Inc. will improve this problem.

Do you want to know more about the latest iPhone? Don't hesitate to do more research on the Internet.

A Fulfilling Sports Day

by 5A Ng Cheuk Ki, Emma

Did you enjoy Sports Day? Did you win any medals? On the last Sports Day, I was a student helper, and I must say it was quite a memorable experience.

First, as usual, I went to my duty. I was helping a teacher to give awards to the winners. It was very hot. I thought I was burning.

Suddenly, I heard a loud sound. As it turned out, a little girl tripped over a rock and fell. She felt very painful. I sent her to the medical room quickly.

When I came back to resume my duty, my teacher asked me, 'Where did you go? Why couldn't I find you?' I replied, 'Sorry. A little girl tripped over the rock so I had to take her to the medical room.' The teacher smiled at me and said, 'You did a very good job! As a reward, I will give you a sandwich and a bottle of orange juice.' 'Thanks a lot!' I replied.

On this Sports Day, I felt very accomplished. It's because I helped the teachers a lot and I helped the little girl. I hope to have a fulfilling Sports day next year as well.

How to make a healthy breakfast

by Lee Ka Wai, Miki

Do you eat breakfast every day before school? Breakfast is important for you because it gives you the energy to work and learn. But there are many kinds of food for breakfast. Some of them are healthy but some are junk food. Now, let me introduce to you to some recipes of healthy breakfast for you.

First, cereal is a good choice. There are many flavours of cereal, so it is perfect for everyone. You can just add different ingredients to them. Now, let me tell you how to make a fruit cereal.

1. Put the cereal into the bowl and use hot water to boil it. You can use a spoon to mix it.

2. Cut any fruit that you like into the bowl (I recommend bananas, raspberries, apples, grapes, or strawberries)

3. Add milk before eating. And your fruit cereal bowl is ready!

Another recipe is for sandwiches. Sandwiches contain many nutrients. They make you feel powerful. The steps below tell you how to make an egg and ham sandwich.

1. Spread some sauce on the bread. Remember to use healthy spreads such as low-sugar jam or organic peanut butter.

2. Add some ham and scrambled eggs to make it not monotonous.

3. Top with a slice of bread to put your sandwich together.

The recipes above can help you to make your own healthy breakfast. So start from today, remember to eat breakfast every day!

Help...

by 6A Wong Hui Yin, Kara

Two boys lost with no sight, rain, hail, and thunder made an unpleasant night. They took shelter in the forest from harm, but all the trees above could not keep them calm. They travelled along, their aching legs tired, their hope for rest had almost expired, but there in the distance! A wonderful find! A building abandoned, surely no one would mind? They ventured forth; they knew what to do. But what was inside? They will soon find out...

The broken door creaked uncomfortably as Ezran and Kenji pushed it open. 'Hello?' Ezran asked. His voice echoed throughout the house as the lights of the house flickered. 'Um...should we leave? This is trespassing...' Kenji asked worriedly. Ezran answered, 'We have no choice. It's hailing outside and this house is warm. We're safe here... I think!' There was a loud bang upstairs.

Terrified with their hearts pounding, they walked further into the house. There was a huge TV that stood before them. It flickered several times. Finally, the TV turned on. Ezran and Kenji covered their eyes to the sudden bright light. When they opened their eyes, there was a dangerous gangster - Scary Mary, who appeared on TV and said in a wicked tone, 'Welcome to my secret hide-out, Ezran and Kenji. You have broken into my base and left me no choice. I shall send three waves of backup to finish you once and for all.' She did a high-pitched wicked laugh and disappeared. Then, the TV shut itself off.

They looked at each other fearfully. There was a long silence, and no one dared to speak. The house started to shake. 'It must be them!' exclaimed Ezran. The door burst open as several bad guys poured in. 'Let's do this!' said Ezran in a heroic tone. They fought all the bad guys bravely. 'When will we get something challenging?' bragged Kenji. Just then, an evil mutant followed by some masked figures entered the house. 'I did not think that would happen.' stuttered Kenji. They fell to the ground as the monster roared. 'Run!' yelled Ezran, and he frantically ran for the stairs as Kenji followed closely, running for their dear lives.

Suddenly, a bright light appeared. An old man came out from it. 'Who are you? Please save us!' cried Kenji. 'My name's Uncle Pete and that's what I'm here for!' The old man replied. He held a long stick in the air, waved it three times and pointed it towards the monster, which disappeared with an unpleasant growl. 'Thank you so much. You saved our lives! How can we repay you?' Ezran asked desperately. 'Promise me you will escape this base immediately.'

Just then, the TV flickered and Scary Mary appeared on the screen. 'You little boys have caused enough trouble and you shall pay the price.' she said furiously. A jet of green light zoomed out of the TV. It dashed towards Ezran but Uncle Pete ran in front of him and held his hands to protect Ezran. The jet of green light hit Uncle Pete right in the chest. He fell to the floor and stuttered, 'Esc-ape i-immediatley.' He gave his magic wand to Ezran and Kenji as they knelt beside him. 'No, no, don't die... please...' Ezran sobbed. But Uncle Pete fell motionless onto the ground. 'No!' screamed Ezran as he took Uncle Pete's wand. He was furious.

'Ezran? Wake up now!' said a soft voice.

Ezran woke up startled. 'Wh-what?' he said. He was sitting in the classroom and everybody was staring at him. 'Ezran, are you alright?' Miss Chan asked worriedly. 'You are sweating, and you look as pale as a sheet of paper' she added. 'I'm fine, Miss Chan, t-thank you!' Ezran replied. 'Alright, class, we will continue our lesson!' Miss Chan said. Kenji asked, 'Are you really alright? You kept murmuring in your sleep. Did you have a nightmare?' Ezran replied, 'Yes... yes, I had a nightmare. And a special one indeed...'

My Journey at Bishop Walsh Primary School

by 6A Tang Tsz Lam, Emily

Time flies, and I have had a wonderful time at Bishop Walsh School for six years. I would like to thank all the teachers who have taught me. If I hadn't had their support, I wouldn't have been able to be the head prefect now. I would also like to thank my friends who learned and played with me at school, outings, and other activities. My brain is full of good memories. I am grateful for the help and support I have received in my six years of primary school life.

I still remember that I was an introverted person when I first came to this school. I seldom talked to my classmates. But over time, I have made many new friends and chatted with classmates happily and cheerfully. The teachers and classmates always encouraged and supported me. They also comforted me when I felt sad. They made me feel more confident during my time here.

In these six years, my most unforgettable memory is the 60th Anniversary ceremony. That night, all the students and parents were in the school hall. Many performances were held. Furthermore, I was honoured to be the MC of the ceremony. That was unforgettable! I was glad to present a bouquet to the priest on behalf of all teachers and students. That was something I will never forget. I am thankful for the teachers' dedication. Without their guidance and help, how would I have grown so fast in just six years? Thank you all!

Tunafish eyeballs

by 5B Pang Regis

Did you know that tuna fish eyeballs are eaten as snacks in some parts of the world? If you don't, then let me tell you about it.

Tuna eyeballs (or medamas in Japanese) are a popular dish in Japan. They are boiled and served with light soy sauce. They are usually served as an appetiser or a snack and can often be found in izakayas (Japanese after-work pubs) as well as seafood restaurants.

Tuna eyeballs consist of a hard exterior known as the sclera, which holds the lens, the iris, and a gelatinous fluid. The sclera is usually too chewy to eat when cooked, but the inner contents of the eye become soft and can be sucked out easily just like bone marrow. When the eyeballs are boiling, they smell really bad but that doesn't stop people from eating it.

Tuna fish eyeballs can be a great and exotic bite. If you have the chance to go to Japan, you should definitely try it!

What happens with ChatGPT?

by 6B Ho Chun Leung, Jay and 6A Chan Yat Hin, Benjamin

ChatGPT is a state-of-the-art language generator AI model developed by OpenAI. It is based on the transformer architecture and is trained on a massive amount of data, making it one of the largest language models in existence. However, should we use it? Today I'm going to tell you whether we should or not.

The goal of ChatGPT is to enable AI to generate human-like text, making it ideal for a variety of applications, including language translation, question answering, and even content creation. It works by using a deep learning algorithm to generate text based on a given prompt.

Now that we know about it, let's think about the benefits that it can bring us. Firstly, it can perform a lot of things with a fraction of what humans can do within that amount of time, which is going to help humans be more time efficient. Another benefit is that it is cost-effective and versatile. ChatGPT can perform complex language tasks quickly and accurately for free.

But these many advantages come at the cost of some disadvantages. I'll put a case for example. Some lawyers are reportedly being fired because of ChatGPT providing the same responses. What are humans going to do if they are fired from their jobs? The impact of ChatGPT can be huge in some industries. If that happens, then it would only be the rich who are going to make money and the whole economic system may fall.

Keeping this into consideration, should we continue using it or abandon it?
